

MODERATION OF MARKS

The result of an examination will be published only after obtaining the approval of the Board of Technical Exams for which a meeting of the Board will be convened. In the meeting, the Board will evaluate the result statistics of each Branch/subject. If it is found that the percentage of pass in a particular Branch/ subject is very low, the Board will fix a suitable mark as General moderation or special moderation as the case may be, so as to maintain a minimum percentage of pass. Moderation is allowed to Theory subjects only. It is not applied to Internal marks. Moderation mark is applicable to both minimum pass marks for the subject as well as for aggregate marks. Moderation will be applied only if the candidate can pass all the subjects using the benefit of moderation. Eligible moderation will be granted to those candidates who get higher marks in revaluation, provided he can pass whole subjects with the moderation marks. The rules for applying moderation are decided by the Board. The Board need not recommend moderation to Branches/ Subjects which has already sufficient percentage of pass.
